1 About CDS

CDS is an autonomous research centre sponsored by the Government of Kerala and the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR). CDS was set up at Thiruvananthapuram under the intellectual leadership of Prof. K.N. Raj in 1970 with the mission of promoting research, teaching, and training in disciplines relevant to development. The Centre is internationally known for its applied economic research relevant for development. CDS has been running two regular academic programmes, MA Applied Economics and PhD in Economics. It has one of the finest libraries in Economics and development subjects in the country. CDS library has a total collection of over 150000 titles in Economics and allied social sciences. The library also subscribes to over 3500 journals available online to faculty and students on a 24 × 7 basis. The Centre subscribes to all leading econometric and statistical softwares and the student hostels are Wi-Fi enabled.

2 About the Programme

The PhD programme in CDS was launched in 1975 and 109 scholars have been awarded PhD so far. The Programme has a strong orientation towards development studies with a core focus on economic aspect of development. The PhD research topics chosen by the students are usually aligned with the research interest and expertise of CDS faculty members. Therefore, the prospective applicants are advised to go through the research profile of the current faculty members available at CDS website www.cds.edu. Broadly, the research interest and expertise of the current faculty members include Macroeconomic issues of Indian economy, Industrial Development, International Trade, Innovation and Technological Progress, Gender and Development, Migration and Development, Poverty, Vulnerability and Social Security, Labour and Employment, Agriculture and Plantations.

3 Duration of the Programme

The Programme involves one year of coursework and a dissertation. The coursework, spread over two semesters, comprises courses on economic theory, research methodology and Indian economy. For dissertation, scholars have the opportunity to choose topics of research from a diverse set of fields, provided that the research topic must have an economic dimension. The maximum duration of the PhD programme shall be six years from the date of admission. However, if progress is found to be satisfactory, the candidate may submit the thesis on completion of three years, including the course work, from the date of admission. Three years is the minimum residency period.
